Dr Wirts, the Medical Director of the army of the West, has issued a circular calling attention to the fact, that medical officers are in the habit of hving off the hospital stores, neglecting to provide for themselves. Sanitary stores are thus appropriated in thousands of instances. Had Dr. Wirts included the Chaplains, in his circular, he would have hit another abuse. There are honorable exceptions among the Chaplains as there are among the Medical Staff of the army, but as a rule, the preachers, when they get the straps on, become the most miserly of men, bending their whole souls to hoarding every dollar of their salaries, even if it is at the cost of stealing the stores-appropriating might be the more polite term-sent by the benevolent at home, to the sick and wounded in the field.

Meeting of Council.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last night, to consider the much talked of and long deferred back ordinance.

The Mayor being absent, Mr. Wallace was called to the chair. Several petitions were presented; one from Mr. Wood, asking to be relieved from his contract on cisterns, which was laid on the table; one from the signers of a remonstrance against the location of a back stand on Illinois street, north, stating that they signed said remonstrance under a misapprehension, and that they do not now object to said

Captain North spoke well, as he always does, and was listened to with much attention.

The ordinance drawn by the City Attorney, by direction of the Council, for the regulation of hacks, cubs, coaches and carriages, fixing stands for the same, and providing rules for their regula tion, was then read.

The main features of the ordinance are the same as the one passed by the Council some weeks ago, and published in the Journal. The point of dispute, or division of sentiment, Choice spiced pigs' feet, beef tongues, was the location of the stands for vehicles carrying passengers. This ordinance located them on the two squares on Illinois street, between Mar Boots and shoes are selling cheap at ket and Maryland streets; on Pennsylvania street, with the same north and south boundary, and on the street between the Union and Terre Haute

Various amendments were offered. Some de sired to confine the backs to one side of the street-some members wished to give privileges Plush. The several amendments got considerably mixed up, and finally, as the shortpretty ankles. The side walks were just a little est way to straighten things out, a motion was made to refer the whole subject to the City Attorney and the Committee on Streets and Alleys, which prevailed. The Council then adjourned.

CAMP CARRINGTON, Dec. 19, 1862. MR EDITOR:- I notice your reference to the distorbance at Camp Carrington on the evening of the 18th, and would respectfully ask you to correct the statement in the following particu-

First. It is unjust to charge it entirely upon the 5th cavalry, for there are several hundred other recruits in this camp, who, it is well known, were as largely represented, if not more so, in proportion to their numbers as the 5th cavalry.

Second. The affiir was sprung and all over in less than half an hour, while the more prominent officers were absent from camp on business connected with the departure of the 5th cavalry, and was suppressed promptly on their arrival, before the appearance of Col Carrington or any other officer disconnected with the camps.
